Coming out of a deep recession in 2009, Mississauga is well positioned to lead the GTA and Ontario in economic recovery, given its large and diverse business sector. Opportunities are abundant to develop a sustainable thriving economy, providing well paying, high quality jobs for our residents - maintaining Mississauga as an attractive place for business, workers and families.

Recognizing that employment cannot be addressed by just government alone, Mayor McCallion is inviting leaders representing business, education, not-for-profit groups, labour organizations and government to come together for a half-day session to discuss and identify strategies and partnerships to increase employment in Mississauga.

The goals of the Summit are to:

- Better understand the employment challenges in Mississauga
- Focus on the employment challenge for youth and newcomers
- Discuss innovative solutions to support labour needs of business and industry sectors
- Develop action plans to quickly increase long term attractive employment opportunities

To ensure wide representation, the Mayor has formed a partnership of several groups in the City to organize and host the Summit including:

- The Mayor of Mississauga
- The Mississauga Summit
- The United Way of Peel Region
- The Mississauga Board of Trade
- Labour, specifically the Carpenters Union and LIUNA
- The University of Toronto Mississauga, and
- The Sheridan Institute

By launching the Mayor’s Job Creation Summit, Mayor Hazel McCallion is seeking the input of as many of the key players in job creation as possible.
